Thomas Edison- uncovering the truth

ELECTRONIC TRUTH FOUNDATION

Think Thomas Edison was “smart”? Think again. Thomas Edison has been credited with inventing the lightbulb, and now in this paragraph, we uncover the truth. The a/c lightbulb we use today was invented by George Westinghouse. Thomas Edison did not let his employees keep patents for their inventions, and some sources say that he never actually acquired a patent for his zero inventions. His patent for the d/c incandesant lightbulb was acquired during the incandesant lightbulb race because he stole patents from other people in the race and his employees created a d/c lightbulb and he stole it.

PARAGRAPH #2:

This paragraph will have general bad stuff about Thomas ediot.
#1: Did ediot pay Nikola tesla $50,000 for improving an engine that Tesla spent 24hrs every day for months to improve? No.
#2 warning: contains disturbing stuff: Did Thomas Edison Publicly electrocute animals? Yes. Did ediot make up false myths about himself? Yes.

PARAGRAPH#3: THE CURRENT WARS

The current wars was a fight between Thomas Edison and George Westinghouse/Nikola Tesla to see who would get to power the world with electricity. a/c electricity was vastly superior to d/c electricity but ediot wouldn’t change his mind because he would need to innovate, and he was not good for doing that. Thomas Edison went to great measures to throw a/c under the bus, like publicly electrocuting animals, creating a death chair, And doing stuff I’d rather not say. Eventually George Westinghouse won a contract with the world fair to power the fair with electricity.

Wikimedia Foundation: more than just Wikipedia

BY HENRY RUSSELL

The Wikimedia foundation is a non-profit organization that is built by you (yes, that’s you) and is helping knowledge be free and open.

Some people think that wikis are not credible, which is true, except when your average number of edits to Wikimedia projects is 3,000 a minute (a lot, check the stats here: wikistream)

That many edits is enough for any incorrect data to be removed in a matter of minutes by experts (also people don’t just go around the internet committing libel) so wikis from Wikimedia foundation are very credible. Some projects are even available to directly copy and not cite! The best thing is Wikimedia is nonprofit so nobody is stealing the money from ads and putting them on the work you made! So, remember, Wikimedia Foundation: it’s more than just Wikipedia.

A Dental Saga, Part I

BY CAMILLE RUSSELL, SINCE 1942

Camille’s Dental Bridge

My parents, like most, taught me to brush my teeth. They fed me nutritious food and limited sweets. But my teeth decayed and by the time I was 20, I had lots of fillings – mostly in my molars. In my 40’s I had root canals on several teeth. By the time I was in my 50’s, I had lost a couple of teeth. Now I have a bridge with 5 false teeth, 2 on one side and 3 on the other. Boo-hoo!

I’m lucky to have had several good dentists, but could this level of tooth decay and expense have been prevented? I believe the answer is YES!

I know a lot more about caring for my teeth than I did when I was a child and even as a younger adult. Now when I visit the dentist’s office, I get compliments from the dental hygienist on the condition of my gums and teeth. This is not by chance, but because I’m committed to keeping my mouth healthy.

In Part II, I’ll share my tooth saving tips.

I keep hearing Zoom has a LOT of security and privacy issues (I got zoom-bombed), but I use zoom 24/7. What should I do? From zoomed
Me: you should stop using zoom and follow the lead of google, the Australian military, the USA military, SpaceX/tesla, etc. by using a similar service like skype (actually works better than zoom and has more features), hangouts(seriously), mumble (open-source YOU can code it like Wikimedia!), or FaceTime!

I just lurve eatin’ trees, but I heard it is bad for my health and I want to quit but the trees just are SO yummo! Do you know any way to stop my addiction?
From, tree-eater
Me: That is a very unusual addiction, but here are some ways to quit: 1. Stop cold turkey: you can lock yourself in your house for a day or two. 2: Bing is eating trees dangerous? The results might give you a motivation to stop. 3: tell yourself eating trees makes no sense is a very weird thing to do.

DON'T SEND YOUR HAMPSTER IN THE MAIL!!!

SUN BEAR

Sometimes you may get a strong urge to send your hamster in the mail. Unless you WANT your hamster to die, I would not suggest doing so! I was recently talking to my good friend, Ethel, and she was telling me about how she shipped her pet hamster in the mail when she was little. She said, @It was the worst decision I have EVER made in my entire life.” Hopefully this article will stop you from making the same mistake. Don’t send your hamster in the mail because it will suffocate or meet another gruesome end such as being slowly crushed by other packages and oozing out of the envelope. Ethel sent her hamster in the mail when she was just a child hoping it would find a better home. Nobody knows what happened to it but she assumes only some hair and dust would be left at this point.

LETTER CORNER

Dear Readers,

I wanted to put this letter in the newspaper to tell you about my late husband. He was a wonderful man—almost as wonderful as my dead hamster, Tony. I miss my husband, Timmy, so much and I just wanted him to be remembered.

Ethel
